County Court Meets In Quarterly Session.

The county Court of Fayette county met in regular quarterly session Wednesday, Tuesday which is the date of the meeting, falling on July 4. There were present thirty four justices who make up the court, the three absentees being Esq. McNamee and Esq. Franklin of LaGrange and Esq. Steger of Moscow, this being the first session of the court which the present Falcon representative remembers ever attending at which Esq. Steger was not present.

The docket was one of the longest the court has had in a long time, but it was made up of such items as called forth little discussion and the court proceeded rapidly with it, covering more than sixty of the almost one hundred items on the docket by the noon adjournment.

The appropriations were of the usual kind, there being rather more appropriations than usual for levee work, this being the season of the year when most of the levee work is done. The largest single appropriation was for $1118.50 for the new tin roof put on the court house since the last meeting of the court and which was authorized at the April term of the court. The old slate roof had been there since the erection of the building in 1878 and had been many times repaired until repair was impossible, according to the opinions of roof experts. Another item which was surprising to the court was the bill from the Western hospital at Bolivar, where this county now has nearly fifty inmates. Fayette county is allowed there without pay about thirty, leaving nearly a score to be paid for by the county, and their annual expenses there run far above $1200. But few members of the court were aware of the number of these unfortunates this county has there.

The report of the board of equalization which was read showed inefficient system of handling the tax assessments under the present laws and members of the court were caused to see some of the losses to the county by the present and past manner of assessing taxes.

The trustee presented to the court his customary application for releases from taxes which have not been collected up to this date, and the justices found many poll taxes on each district list which should have been collected and could have been. These taxes are payable each year to the trustee at his office here, and if not paid by March 1 they become delinquent and are placed in the hands of collectors whose duty it is to go out into the districts and collect them. The trustee performed his duty in the matter, but it appears to the court that the collectors were negligent in their duty in not collecting hundreds of poll taxes which were not collected. In every district in the county are negroes who were assessed with poll taxes and who should pay the tax, but who have marked opposite their names by these collectors, "gone," "not found," "double assessed," "dead," "insolvent" and other reasons, when the parties are there if the collector will just hunt him up and make him pay. The county schools are losing many dollars each year from two causes, namely, not assessing polls properly and not collecting those assessed. Both troubles are easily remedied and should be before another year.

The court was addressed just before adjournment by Capt. H. C. Moorman of this city and L. D. Bejak of Memphis on the question of a constitutional convention.

Terry, Ed and Lee Oliver, children of his first wife, and Clarence, Tom, Hobson and Maggie Bell, children of his second wife, who with her children survive him. One sister, Mrs. Annie Largent, and a number of nephews, and nieces also are living in this section, among them C. A. Oliver of this city.

Farmers' Meeting Next Saturday Afternoon.

There will be held in Somerville Saturday afternoon, July 8, a meeting of farmers to inspect the corn plots of W. T. Loggins and J. H. Flippin. I have visited these plots during the year and think them worth the time of any farmer in the county to visit them.

The cultivation of both plots has been such as can be done by any farmer in the county, no unusual or expensive machinery being used in the preparation or cultivation of either plot, and the plot of four or more acres of the Loggins crop is on land redeemed within the past two years from some of the worst washed and gullied lands in Fayette county. Both plots are right at town and I desire to have as many farmers as possible see them.

SOME PEOPLE.

They let the butcher stop their meat; They made the landlord wait; They grocer's bill they had to beat; The tailor called too late; They let the gas bill go unpaid; The laundry man they shunted; They kept the wages of their maid; The baker for them hunted; They bought their winter's coal on trust; Bills came from near and far— It used up all their income just To run their motor car.

Two calves were tied strongly together; each tried to go in a different direction, with the result that neither got anywhere because they failed to cooperate and pull together. Let us here in Moscow be not like unto the two calves but pull together for every desirable thing.

In the midst of politics, war etc., let us not neglect the county fair. Whiteville again defeated Moscow at the latter place Monday.

Copeland-Burnett.

Miss Annie May Copeland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Copeland, of No. 815 Second avenue, and Mr. Harry F. Burnette, of Chattanooga, were married here Thursday evening by Rev. H. F. Joyner, at his home in East Rome.

Miss Copeland has many friends in this city and Mr. Burnette, who is employed at the McClure store here is a popular young man. They will reside with the bride's parents until their home, which will be erected soon, is completed. Their marriage came as a surprise, after a brief courtship. Only one other couple was present when the ceremony was performed.

Reunion of Williston Veterans.

On this particular day there are assembled thousands of loyal citizens to celebrate the time in American history that is so dear to everyone in the United States. It seems truly that history does repeat, for as that instrument was put forth that put a nation into existence, on this day so also was fought the battle that held this nation together—the battle of Gettysburg. Truly this day has a double significance to the men who wore the grey in the sixties.

Those men who shouldered the musket in behalf of the Lost Cause are fast passing away and we, the remnant of that sturdy band, appreciate any courtesy or honor that may be shown us. The reveille of our day has sounded and soon we are to hear the retreat.

At this time we have assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Crawford at the suggestion of the latter. Annually she has thrown open her hospitable home and has provided a sumptuous dinner to the veterans of civil war in this locality. We have been permitted to meet together and talk of old days, to recount the incidents both serious and humorous of the period that tried the souls of men. We have met for the purpose of social intercourse.

And now, inasmuch as we have been permitted to meet from year to year, we desire to express our thanks to God who has spared our lives. We are thankful, too, that we have a woman in our community who has so much enterprise and such a sense of patriotism that she has undertaken this annual task of calling us together. In addition to this we desire to thank her for her pains in the preparation of this bountiful meal, and we do this day subscribe our names to this paper as an evidence of our appreciation. We sincerely hope that we may be spared to many more such reunions, and that you, Mrs. Crawford, may be spared to be our hostess.
